FROM THE DIRECTOR - Melissa Barnard

Saluting One of Our Own
We dedicate this Library Connection to Assistant Director Virginia McKane. Virginia is retiring after ten years of service at the Grace A. Dow Memorial Library.

Virginia brought many strengths to this position and we benefited from her skills and talents. She has been responsible for the library's public relations, including coordinating the production of the bimonthly newsletter that keeps our community informed about library services and programs. Virginia was instrumental in taking our vision of a separate teen area to reality in the Teen Spot. She also played a key role in the successful digitization of the Midland historical newspapers. Always on the lookout for interesting and educational programs, Virginia provided our patrons with a diversity of experiences through the programs that she organized.

Many of you have enjoyed Virginia's artistic touches in the library. She is the inspiration and guiding hand behind the library's beautifully decorated Christmas tree in the Quiet Room each year. The table decorations for the annual tea demonstrate her incredible creativity. Her eye for color and design has been a bonus for the library. We wish Virginia a happy retirement filled with reading, family and new adventures. She leaves a wonderful legacy of hard work, loyalty, and a passion for all that our library represents.

BRINGING THE GREAT MICHIGAN READ TO MIDLAND

The Michigan Humanities Council's community reading program returns with Detroit native Kevin Boyle's Arc of Justice: A Saga of Race, Civil Rights and Murder in the Jazz Age. This award winning, non-fiction account of the Dr. Ossian Sweet case traces the events that occurred after an African American physician purchased a house in an all white Detroit neighborhood. Dr. Sweet's choice to defend his family from the forces organized to drive them out set in motion a series of events that were tragic and transformative.

To help get the conversation started locally, the library has invited notable members of our community to participate in a panel discussion, sharing their thoughts and insights on the Sweet case and its lasting impact on the civil rights movement. Copies of Arc of Justice are available for checkout. Reading guides are also provided.

Join the discussion live:

Tuesday, February 28th

7:00PM, Library Auditorium

The Great Michigan Read is presented by the Michigan Humanities Council and made possible by support from the National Endowment for the Humanities and Meijer. Learn more at www.michiganhumanities.org.

CONSIDER A YEAR END DONATION TO THE LIBRARY

Your charitable donation to the library is eligible for a tax deduction. The Michigan Tax Credit is still effective for 2011 but this will be the last year to take advantage of the tax credit. On the library's website click on Gifts, Memorials & Donations to access the donation form.

Thank you for supporting the library and helping us meet the needs of the community.

Finding Books to Talk About

Wednesday, December 14

10:00AM

Library Lounge

A good read doesn't necessarily make for a great discussion. Sometimes a book that is riveting and fun to read leaves little to talk about in your book discussion group. Adult Services book discussion leaders will provide some good ideas for identifying books that read well and also give readers lots to talk about. This session highlights the Library's online reading resources plus provides a list of recent titles we'd love to talk about.
