Books into Movies—September Selection

The Little Stranger by Sarah Walters

A respectable country doctor, Faraday is called to Hundreds Hall where his mother once worked as a housemaid. Is the house haunted by something more sinister than a dying way of life? The Ayres' family story is about to become disturbingly and terrifyingly entwined with Faraday's own.

Books & Bites—September Selection

The Story of Arthur Truluv by Elizabeth Berg

Three people find their way back from loss and loneliness to a different kind of belonging in this deeply moving novel. Arthur, an old widower struggling to overcome his grief, meets Maddy, a troubled teenage girl who avoids school by hiding out where Arthur goes every day for lunch. The two strike up a friendship that draws them out of isolation. Maddy gives Arthur the name Truluv for his positive responses to every outrageous thing she says or does. When Arthur's nosy neighbor Lucille horns in on their friendship, they create an unconventional family, sometimes bickering but most often believing that life's most precious moments are sweeter when shared.
